Memorial Society Meet.
A large and important meeting of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society was held yesterday at 11 o'clock, in the Confederate Museum, with Mrs. Alfred Gray in the chair.

Asking for Flags.
A letter from Dr. Denny, president of Washington and Lee University, at Lexington, Va., requesting the gift of Confederate flags from the society, had been forwarded by Mrs. Joseph Bryan to Mrs. Gray, and was read by her to the ladies. It was resolved, in response to this letter, to send two flags from the society to be used as Dr. Denny indicated, in draping Memorial Chapel, the burial place of General Robert E. Lee.

The Tubcock Portrait.
A letter was read from Mrs. Littlepage, of Austin, Texas, in regard to a very handsome portrait sent to the society by her of War Governor Lubbock, of Texas, who was a member of President Jefferson Davis's staff, and was with him at the time of his capture in Georgia. The portrait has arrived, and will be hung in the South room of the Museum. A letter of thanks and appreciation was directed sent by the secretary to Mrs. Littlepage. The society is gratified to have this portrait added to the list of President Davis's cabinet and prominent officials, which it is trying very hard to complete.

A Stirring Call.
Mrs. N. V. Randolph caused a stirring call to the society in regard to the work which each member should feel herself called on to do for the approaching year. She recommended that Mrs. Joseph Bryan, president of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society, as chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. Alfred Gray, acting president, as first assistant chairman.

Bostock Benefit.
Mrs. Randolph also stated that Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will give a Bostock benefit on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 7th, for the reunion fund, and that tickets could be procured through her, Mrs. B. A. Blenner, Mrs. W. B. Bennett or any member of the chapter. Unless tickets are bought from some member, or from the three ladies already mentioned, the chapter will derive no profit from the sale. Mrs. Blenner is chairman for the benefit.

Weitzel-Hooper.
The marriage of Miss Belle Phyllis Hooper, daughter of Mr. George J. Hooper, to Mr. George Edward Weitzel, will take place this morning at 10 o'clock in the home of the bride, No. 721 Spring Street, the Rev. Thomas Semmes, of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, officiating.

Poems You Ought to Know.
A Land Across the Sea.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

Across the sea a land there is,
Where, if fate will, men may have bliss,
For it is fair as any land;
There hath the reaper a full hand,
While in the orchard hangs aloft
The purple fig, a-glowing soft;
And fair the trellised vine-lanes
Are swung across the high elm-trees;
And in the rivers great fish play,
While over them pass day by day
The laden barges to their place.
There maids are straight, and fair of face,
And men are stout for husbandry,
And all is well as it can be.
Upon this earth where all has end,
For on them God is pleas'd to send
The gift of Death down from above,
That envy, hatred, and hot love,
Knowledge with hunger by his side,
And avarice and deadly pride,
There may have end like everything
Both to the shepherd and the king;
Lest this green earth become but hell
If folk thereon should ever dwell.

Full little most men think of this,
But half in love and half in bliss
They pass their lives, and die at last
Unwilling, though their lot be cast
In wretched places of the earth,
Where men have little joy from birth
Until they die; in no such case
Were those who till'd this pleasant place.

There soothly men were loth to die,
Though sometimes in his misery
A man would say, "Would I were dead!"
Alas! full little likelyhood
That he should live forever there.
So loth within that country fair
Lived on, unable to forget
The long-drawn things they could not get,
And without need tormenting still
Each other with some bitter ill;
Yea, and themselves too, growing gray
With dread of some long-living day,
Which never came ere they were dead;
With griefs and sorrows growing on the head;
Norwise content with what they had,
But falling still from good to bad,
While hard they sought the hopeless best;
And seldom happy or at rest
Until at last, with lessening blood,
One foot within the grave they stood.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1906. One is published each day.
